VI. LEGISLATIVE LIAISON

Mr. Schymanski reported on the following:

This is the second year of the Biennium Budget. It is important to note that this year, as an election year, will have few legislation sessions prior to the election. Speaking on a bill or submitting testimony will have to be quick. More importantly, look for legislators to take action on many bills during the "Lame Duck Sessions!!!" That is the sessions after the election and before December 31. Time to react, will be short and at times, the legislators will add items to a bill approved out of committee and talk about it on the floor. In these cases, no public comment can happen, and the only recourse is writing our Representative or Senator. Therefore, any bill can have unrelated items added if the Speaker or the Senate President allows it.

Ohio Legislation:

HB 583 bears watching. It started as a bill to address Teacher and sub shortages. But the bill appropriates $338 Million for the 2022-2023 school year, using Federal money to support the federal school lunch program. I'm not sure what this means but I don't think it will continue the Universal Lunch program. It seems to support providing funds to help cover the increased food costs.

The State Board approved the Dyslexia Guidebook by a 12-7 vote. Expect to see confusion and challenges for our teachers as all schools try to meet these new requirements.

The House Primary and Secondary Education Committee held a third hearing on HB 497, which would modify the English language arts assessment to be administered once in the third grade and to eliminate retention under the Third Grade Reading Guarantee. I do hope this bill passes.

HB 151 has been updated, revising the Ohio Resident Educator program. If approved, I think Mrs. Simmons should update the Board on the new requirements.

HB508 is in the House Civil Justice Committee. This bill deals with parents who have shared custody rights. We need to wait and see if this bill is approved, then, rely on our legal counsel and Neola to update rules we have to follow, and the rules each parent has to follow, including legal documents or processes they are required to follow in shared parenting situations. We probably also need to get our social workers involved and they will probably be helpful to the building principal and assistant principal when parenting conflicts occur.

Steve Dackin, Bath Graduate was named Superintendent of Public Instruction. Steve was AD and Assistant Principal here at Elida in the Late 1980's and early 1990's. He has been a public school superintendent. More recently, he has been involved in Charter school management and Charter school support groups. I don't know how he will treat public education given his more recent support of the Charter School process.

Federal News

As time goes by, the chances for another year of Universal Lunch programs, seems to diminish. Senator Brown is pushing for this program, but Congress seems to be more divided. Especially, as Democrats add items to the proposed bill that continue to make for profit schools and for profit charter program ineligible.

An interesting educational twist on the leaked Roe vs Wade draft, was suggested in Texas. Governor Abbott is suggesting that since the Supreme Court seems willing to overturn one long standing legal precedent, other outstanding legal precedents should also be challenged and overturned. He want to challenge Plyler vs Doe, a 1982 case that said states must provide education to all children including undocumented immigrant children. The precedents cited in the Plyler case; I think are very applicable to Bill Phillis's voucher lawsuit.

This is just one of several Supreme Court decisions relating to education that could see new lawsuits. One example is Affirmative action which some conservative parents' groups are linking it to policies that "infect K-12 classrooms with racial division." The next few years could be interesting as any new challenges will probably take years to make it to the Supreme Court.

VII. PUBLIC PARTICIPATION RELATED TO ACTION ITEMS

VIII. SUPERINTENDENT REPORT

Mr. Mengerink reported on the following:

Elementary baseball diamonds - work has begun, hoping the weather holds and we don't get much rain.

- Dyslexia guidebook has finally been approved by the state BOE and is being digested right now, all students in K-3 must be screened next year, and students in grades 4-6 much be screened if requested by parent
- Senior awards night is Thursday evening.
- Graduation ceremony - May 29 @ 2 pm.
- Outside maintenance - will work on a per diem arrangement to have Jody Long sub when the new supervisor is on medical leave.
